1. INTRODUCTION

1.1 PROJECT OVERVIEW

Nowadays, fashion applications and e-commerce are growing more and more, and it also has some problems when finding the customer's wanted product in the web applications. Having a chatbot that understands the algorithm of a specific application can be of great aid. We are implementing such a chat bot in a web application, which is fed with the knowledge of the application's algorithm and helps the user completely from finding their needs to processing the payment and initiating delivery. It works as an advanced filter search that can bring the user what they want with the help of pictorial and named representation by getting simple user information and activities. The application also has two main UI interactions: one is the user panel and the other one is the admin panel. Users can interact with the chat bot to search for products, order them from the manufacturer or distributor through chatbot AI, and it can also make payment transactions, track the delivery, and so on. The admin interface enables the user to upload products' details, user details, orders and find how many products have been bought; supervise the stock availability; and interact with the buyer regarding the product reviews.

We have come up with a new innovative solution through which you can directly do your online shopping based on your choice without any search. It can be done by using the chat bot.

In this project you will be working on two modules:

1. Admin and

2. User Admin:

The role of the admin is to check out the database about the stock and have a track of all the things that the users are purchasing.

User: The user will login into the website and go through the products available on the website. Instead of navigating to several screens for booking products online, the user can directly talk to Chat bot regarding the products. Get the recommendations based on information provided by the user.

1.2 PURPOSE

- a) Using chatbot we can manage user's choices and orders.
- b) The chatbot can give recommendations to the users based on their interests.
- c) It can promote the best deals and offers on that day.
- d) It will store the customer's details and orders in the database.
- e) The chatbot will send a notification to customers if the order is confirmed.
- f) Chatbots can also help in collecting customer feedback.

2. LITERATURE SURVEY

2.1 EXISTING PROBLEM

To understand and analyse the application developments of recommender systems, this section first reviews the main recommendation techniques, including traditional methods such as collaborative filtering-based, content-based, knowledge-based, and hybrid methods, and recently developed advanced methods, such as fuzzy set-based, social network-based, trust-based, context awareness-based, and group recommendation approaches.

i Content-based recommendation techniques

Content-based (CB) recommendation techniques recommend articles or commodities that are similar to items previously preferred by a specific user. The basic principles of CB recommender systems are: a. To analyse the description of the items preferred by a particular user to determine the principal common attributes that can be used to distinguish these items. These preferences are stored in a user profile. b. To compare each item's attributes with the user profile so that only items that have a high degree of similarity with the user profile will be recommended. In CB recommender systems, two techniques have been used to generate recommendations. One technique generates recommendations heuristically using traditional information retrieval methods, such as cosine similarity measure. The other technique generates recommendations using statistical learning and machine learning methods, largely building models that are capable of learning users' interests from the historical data (training data) of users.

ii Collaborative filtering-based recommendation techniques

Collaborative filtering (CF)-based recommendation techniques help people to make choices based on the opinions of other people who share similar interests. The CF technique can be divided into user-based and item-based CF approaches. In the userbased CF approach, a user will receive recommendations of items liked by similar users. In the item-based CF approach, a user will receive recommendations of items that are similar to those they have loved in the past. The similarity between users or items can be calculated by Pearson correlation-based similarity, constrained Pearson correlation (CPC)-based similarity, cosine-based similarity, or adjusted cosine-based measures. When calculating the similarity between items using the above measures, only users who have rated both items are considered. This can influence the similarity accuracy when items which have received a very small number of ratings express a high level of similarity with other items. To improve similarity accuracy, an enhanced item-based CF approach was presented by combining the adjusted cosine approach with Jaccard metric as a weighting scheme. To compute the similarity between users, the Jaccard metric was used as a weighting scheme with the CPC to obtain a weighted CPC measure. To deal with the disadvantage of the single-rating based approach, multi-criteria collaborative filtering was developed.

iii Knowledge-based recommendation techniques

Knowledge-Based (KB) recommendation offers items to users based on knowledge about the users, items and/or their relationships. Usually, KB recommendations retain a functional knowledge base that describes how a particular item meets a specific user's need, which can be performed based on inferences about the relationship between a user's need and a possible recommendation. Case-based reasoning is a common expression of KB recommendation technique in which case-based recommender systems represent items as cases and generate the recommendations by retrieving the most similar cases to the user's query or profile. Ontology, as a formal knowledge representation method, represents the domain concepts and the relationships between those concepts. It has been used to express domain knowledge in recommender systems. The semantic similarity between items can be calculated based on the domain ontology.

iv Hybrid recommendation techniques

To achieve higher performance and overcome the drawbacks of traditional recommendation techniques, a hybrid recommendation technique that combines the best features of two or more recommendation techniques into one hybrid technique has been proposed. According to Burke, there are seven basic hybridization mechanisms of combinations used in recommender systems to build hybrids: weighted, mixed, switching, feature combination, feature augmentation, cascade and meta-level. The most common practice in the existing hybrid recommendation techniques is to combine the CF recommendation techniques with the other recommendation techniques in an attempt to avoid cold-start, sparseness and/or scalability problems.

v Computational intelligence-based recommendation techniques

Computational intelligence (CI) techniques include Bayesian techniques, artificial neural networks, clustering techniques, genetic algorithms and fuzzy set techniques. In recommender systems, these computational intelligence techniques are widely used to construct recommendation models. A Bayesian classifier is a probabilistic methodology for solving classification problems. Bayesian classifiers are popular for model-based recommender systems and are often used to derive the model for CB recommender systems. When a Bayesian network is implemented in recommender systems, each node corresponds to an item, and the states correspond to each possible vote value.

2.3 PROBLEM STATEMENT DEFINITION

|--|---|
| Who does the problem affect? | The person was look for a clear outfit |
| What are the boundaries of the problem? | The person has problem with the items before he orders them |
| What is the issue? | He had no good looks outfit as he seeks in the online products and the way it looks on him. |
| When does the issue occurs? | Returning the items without will because of the in comfortable outfit |
| Where does the issue occurs? | It occurs in the look of the product and the way it comforts the user. |
| Why is it important to fix the problem? | To have an effective shopping experience and to interact with the user |
| What solution to solve this issue? | To construct an application that fits all the condition with the user with his willing product and the way they look. |
| What methodology used to solve this issue? | Image outfitting, interaction , cloth outfit and anglor views |

10. ADVANTAGES & DISADVANTAGES

ADVANTAGES:

- Its helps to user Shopping with Assistant
- Its helps to user manage the check list
- Its helps to user shopping at home

DISADVANTAGES:

- User have fear about online shopping
- User have sometimes received wrong items
- User have fear about online payment and the clear presentation of the product.

11. CONCLUSION

Recommendation systems have the potential to explore new opportunities for retailers by enabling them to provide customized recommendations to consumers based on information retrieved from the Internet. They help consumers to instantly find the products and services that closely match with their choices. Moreover, different state-of-the-art algorithms have been developed to recommend products based on users' interactions with their social groups. Therefore, research on embedding social media images within fashion recommendation systems has gained huge popularity in recent times. This paper presented a review of the fashion recommendation systems, algorithmic models and filtering techniques based on the academic articles related to this topic. The technical aspects, strengths and weaknesses of the filtering techniques have been discussed elaborately, which will help future researchers gain an in-depth understanding of fashion recommender systems. However, the proposed prototypes should be tested in commercial applications to understand their feasibility and accuracy in the retail market, because inaccurate recommendations can produce a negative impact on a customer. Moreover, future research should concentrate on including time series analysis and accurate categorization of product images based on the variation in colour, trend and clothing style in order to develop an effective recommendation system. The proposed model will follow brand specific personalization campaigns and hence it will ensure highly curated and tailored offerings for users. Hence, this research will be highly beneficial for researchers interested in using augmented and virtual reality features to develop recommendation systems.

12. FUTURE SCOPE

There has been significant progress recently in fashion recommendation system research, which will benefit both consumers and retailers soon. The use of product and user images, textual content, demographic history, and cultural information is crucial in developing recommendation frameworks. Product attributes and clothing style matching are common features of collaborative and content-based filtering techniques. Researchers can develop more sophisticated hyper personalized filtering techniques considering the correlation between consumers' clothing styles and personalities. The methods based on employing a scoring system for quantifying each product attribute will be helpful in increasing the precision of the model. The use of virtual sales advisers in an online shopping portal would provide consumers with a real time offline shopping experience. Retailers can collect the data on users' purchase history and product reviews from the recommendation system and subsequently use them in style prediction for the upcoming seasons. The integration of different domain information strengthens the deep learning paradigm by enabling the detection of design component variation, which improves the performance of the recommendation system in the long run. Deep learning approaches should be more frequently used to quickly explore fashion items from different online databases to provide prompt recommendations to users or consumers.
